

Learn Basic Circuits with Hacking STEM

Join us at the Microsoft Store at the NorthPark Center for a hands-on STEM activity that explores basic circuits and how they work.

Students will build their own flashlight while learning about the basic components of a circuit. Students will then apply their new knowledge and design a homemade board game that involves circuitry.

This fun activity challenges students to problem-solve, troubleshoot, and think critically!

November 19 at
12:30 PM to 2:00 PM

Microsoft Store—NorthPark
Center
8687 N. Central Expy
Dallas, TX 75225